Pastor’s Corner

All Hallow’s

October 2019

At the end of this month, our community will celebrate Halloween in various ways. There will be costumes, candy, Trunk or Treat events and haunted houses. Very few people realize its holy history anymore. “Hallow” is an Old English word which means “holy” or “sacred.” We use the word when we pray the Lord’s Prayer: “hallowed be they name.” “Hallow’s Eve” or “Halloween” originally meant the “evening of holy persons,” the night before All Saints Day, which falls on November 1. Our world sees less and less of the holy each passing day.

When we sit beside the deathbeds of those we love, there seems to be no more difficult place in the world. And still, no one could remove us from that place. The vigil that takes place at the death of a loved one is a sacred thing. It is a holy time. The Holy Spirit gives us clarity when all other cares and concerns are set aside. In a very unusual way, we are allowed to think first and foremost of life and death, sin and grace, and the good things God has in store for the faithful in his kingdom. And yet the thought of separation makes this time very difficult for us.

When one of our families walks the holy time between life and death, I am reminded of the words of Richard Baxter, a 17th century English Puritan pastor, poet, and hymn writer. He once described himself as “a dying man preaching to dying men.” While I recommend the entire hymn, here are the last two verses of “Lord It Belongs Not to my Care.”

*Then shall I end my sad complaints
And weary, sinful days
And join with thy triumphant saints
Who sing my Savior’s praise.*

*My knowledge of that life is small,
The eye of faith is dim;
But 'tis enough that Christ knows all,
And I shall be with Him.*

LSB 757; TLH 527

Baxter may well have been inspired by the apostle Paul’s confession that whether we live or die, we belong to the Lord! He speaks of how little knowledge we have of what is to come, and yet all of our faith is placed in Jesus Christ, the way and the truth and the life. He knows that this is all that is important: “But 'tis enough that Christ knows all, And I shall be with Him.” (Continued...)

Even in the places where our knowledge is short, Christ's is not. He knows all things. He knows all people. He calls us by name, the name given to us when we were washed with water and the Word in Holy Baptism. And then he gives us His name! The name of Jesus is what allows us to end our "sad complaints and weary, sinful days" in the hope that we "join with thy triumphant saints who sing my Savior's praise."

Yours in Christ,
Pastor Steven Bielenberg

From the Window View of Pastor Lee

For ages, people used the sun to determine what time it was where they were. Every community set its clocks to noon based on when the sun reached its highest position in the sky; as a result, when it was noon in Washington, D.C., the local time in New York City was already minutes ahead. Before the days of long-distance travel, differences in local times weren't a big deal. That changed with the rise of railroads in the 1800s. Although it was then possible to travel significant distances faster than ever before, a multitude of local times, particularly in large countries such as the United States, made things confusing when it came to train schedules.

Each train station had set its own clock making it difficult to coordinate train schedules and confusing passengers. Time calculation became a serious problem for people traveling by train (sometimes hundreds of miles in a day), according to the Library of Congress. Every city in the United States used a different time standard, so there were more than 300 local sun-times to choose from. Railroad managers tried to address the problem by establishing 100 railroad time zones, but this was only a partial solution to the problem.

On November 18, 1883, America's railroads began using a standard time system involving four time zones, Eastern, Central, Mountain and Pacific. Within each zone, all clocks were synchronized. The railroad industry's plan was adopted by much of the country, although the time-zone system didn't become official across the United States until the passage of the 1918 Standard Time Act, which also established daylight saving time.

What time zone is your life in? Are you four hours behind or are you four hours ahead? That all depends on where you're standing compared to where the sun is. If you're in California and it's 9am in Maine, it's 6am for you making you three hours behind. What if you got up at the same time as someone in Maine? Not in the sense of time clock but at the same moment in time. Your time stamp would be 6am while his time stamp in Maine would be 9am, this time making you three hours ahead of him. You see, being behind or ahead is all relative to that moment in life when you do something that changes everything. You can fail all your life but that one moment in life, that one moment in time that changes the course of your life forever. Those are the times you live for. When that friend of yours you've been talking to for fifteen years about Jesus finally gets baptized, it makes it all worth it. When we are baptized, we are in sync with every baptized believer in the past and all those that will be in the future. Our God in eternal, He is not confined to time. He has no beginning nor ending. All it takes is one moment in time to make a timeless moment.

Blessings,
Pastor Vue Lee

Letter From the Vicar

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

I am excited to begin serving you as your vicar at King of Kings. Many of you may know me already, but it is my hope that we will get to know each other better as I embark on this service. Pastoral vicarage is a one-year program in our denomination, the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, which prepares men for the office of ordained Word and Sacrament ministry through the experiential learning of working under a veteran pastor. You and Pastor Bielenberg have partnered with me and the Minnesota South District of the LCMS to undertake this program, working together to prepare me and my family for my future service of ministry.

I come to vicarage with over ten years of theological education, having completed by B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. in theology, and having published my dissertation, Hanging by a Promise. I also currently teach theology in the Religion Department of Augsburg University. While I continue to learn much of theology in the academic realm, I am eager to begin the experiential learning of Christian ministry in your midst, guided by Pastor Bielenberg. While classroom learning, teaching, and research are important and fun, the most important thing for Christian theology is the proclamation of the Gospel of forgiveness in Jesus Christ and engaging in worship and pastoral care. These three things will form the essence of my vicarage at King of Kings, as I learn from your pastor and from you all.

Perhaps the things that am I most known for—and rightfully so—are for being the husband of Katie, your office administrator at King of Kings, and the father of our three sons, Martin, Peter, and Thomas. All five of us are very active in the various communities of our lives and have been very involved at your sister congregation, Emmaus Lutheran, in St. Paul for the last thirteen years. We also participate in many different activities at King of Kings and have all come to love your congregation as our “second church home.”

We are all enthusiastic to begin this new chapter in our lives, as I begin a year with you as your vicar in preparation for my ordination into Word and Sacrament ministry in the LCMS. I look forward to our worship and fellowship together. I am always willing to talk with you, as we share our Christian lives together.

Yours in Christ,
Joshua Miller

LOVING OUR NEIGHBORS WITH THE ROSEVILLE POLICE DEPARTMENT Pastor Lee recently reached out and asked what Roseville PD's greatest needs are and how we, the church, can help. The department said, “When our officers get calls about people on the streets, such as veterans and families with children, their hearts go out to them. Most of the time the officers end up buying them food or giving money out of their own pocket.” I know we as the church can help. It's so easy, donate any of the following items and drop them off to Pastor Lee: 1-gallon zip top bags, fruit snacks, granola bars, water bottles, socks, hand wipes, chap stick, tooth brushes/paste, Cub/Target Gift Card of any amount, and a hand written note. If you don't feel like shopping, you can make a monetary donation and Pastor Lee will buy it on your behalf. We will have a continuous ministry of package these into the 1-gallon zip top bag and deliver them to Roseville PD.

Update from the Kaisers

Changes!

Changes are a part of life, and we are in the middle of an exciting one! The national leadership of the Ethiopian Evangelical Church Mekane Yesus (EECMY) has decided to re-establish their national Bible translation office. This is exciting because they are recognizing the importance of Bible translation in the life of the church and are making it a priority for the church. They have asked me (Jim) to be an advisor to this work, and Lutheran Bible Translators has agreed to this change.

What this means for us is that we will now be living in the capital city of Addis Ababa instead of the small town of Gidole in the southwest part of Ethiopia (note our address on the back page). I will be doing much the same work as before, except that I will be doing it at the national level instead of the local level. My priorities will be the checking of Bible translations, advising the translation office, and helping to develop new consultants for the church.

Nationally, the EECMY has over twenty Bible translation projects. One of the first tasks the translation office will take up is to visit each of these projects. An assessment will be done to see how they are doing and to see how they can be helped to do a better job.

We are excited by this new opportunity to help so many translation projects, and to help the church develop consultants for the future. I will also continue to work with the Zayse, Tsamakko, Konso, Dirayta, and Ale projects as I was before. Please pray for energy and flexibility as this program moves forward.

Jim with Mr. Solomon Haile (EECMY Translation Coordinator) and Rev. Dr. Lalissa D. Gemechis (Director, EECMY Department of Mission and Theology)

Stewardship Corner

God wants our giving and sharing to be joyful and fulfilling. How could we not be joyful when the creator of the universe chooses us to be His stewards who care for His creation and His gifts to us? How could we not want to express our gratitude to God for Who He is and what He has done and continues to do for us through our faithful and joyful giving? Our generosity flows out of our understanding that God has created and redeemed us. In spite of our sinful ways, He loves us and calls us each by name. Filled with God's love, we give generously and cheerfully. In the words of Rev. Stephen Olford, "Giving satisfies the soul, edifies the church, and magnifies the Lord." May God grant us hearts that find joy in giving.

Sideline with Schutte

Listening to Minnesota Twins baseball games on the radio is something that is constantly happening at our house during the summer months. The excitement that this year's team has brought to baseball fans throughout the state has generated a major buzz leading into playoffs in October. No matter how many home runs the members of the "Bomba Squad" hit, I'm still amazed on how far they can blast the ball out of the park.

Baseball is a game of failures. Growing up, I had spent endless hours trying to perfect my game, only to fall short more times than not. The drive to always be my best helped me to focus on every single swing in the batting cages and during early morning workouts. All of this was done despite knowing that failure was much more likely than success. It didn't matter how many scraped knees from sliding, bruises from playing catcher or time spent sitting the bench when not in the line-up, I wanted to make sure I did everything possible to prepare myself ahead of time so I was ready when the coach called my name.

As we go about living our lives, we know there will be failures. There will be endless hours spent trying to perfect something which may seem to have no success in sight. If those failures cause us to give up, then the devil has won. We must improve all parts of our game. Daily preparing ourselves for the moment when our Heavenly Father looks down the bench and calls our name, looking for us to step up to the plate and hit it out of the park.

you!
